COMMENDING THE GOOD WORK

Dr. Tompkins Points Out Benefit to Mankind by Service of Young Women.

Many a Suit

owes its shape to the flat-iron. The style is pressed in, not put in.

The tailoring of our garments is conscientiously careful through and through. They grow old gracefully.

Can't look at our Blue Serges without getting a tight-vest feeling. They're certainly "corkers" in style and quality.

The reason why so many Blue Serge Suits turn red after a few weeks' wear is because they're blushing at their own poorness.

We unconditionally guarantee all our Serges for color. The dye won't die out even if you leave 'em forty-eight hours in the blazing sun or overnight in a brimming bathtub.

GAVE NO REASON FOR ROUGH WORK

Cyclone Samuels Handcuffed Boy, But Put No Irons on Man Charged with Hanging Crime.

Though admitting that he had recently arrested a negro charged with a hanging crime, without handcuffing him, Constable (Cyclone) Samuels could give no satisfactory reason when questioned by Attorney J. T. Lewis yesterday morning why he had put handcuffs on young Hartford Martin, who was arrested Wednesday for assaulting his son, John Samuels.

The case was tried before Magistrate G. W. Thomas. Martin was fined $10 and the costs, while the son of the constable was fined only $2.50 and the costs. Attorney Lewis promptly took an appeal in the case of Martin.

Dragged Quickly to Jail. According to the evidence given by the Martin boy, he became involved in a quarrel with Samuels, who was employed in the same department with him at the Cedar Works. Samuels telephoned to his father to get out a warrant against his youthful assistant. Samuels proceeded to get out the warrant, and arrested the victim, bringing him through the streets like a common criminal.

Martin claimed that he was brought to the jail with his arms being given time to change his clothes or to notify his employers that he had been arrested.

It was inadvertently stated yesterday that the warrant for Samuels' arrest was issued by Magistrate Lewis, and that he had instructed Constable Angle to handcuff him. The warrant was issued by Magistrate Thomas, and Mr. Lewis, who had in the meantime been retained as counsel for the boy, said that "Cyclone" himself should be handcuffed. His only connection with the case was as counsel for the boy.

The matter will be probably brought to the attention of Judge Scott.

One Cow Kills Another.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] DANVILLE, Va., May 28.—North Main Street was the scene of a death battle between two cows, as a result of which a fine full-blooded Jersey, owned by Mr. A. D. Baird, was gored to death. The attack was made by a vicious cow belonging to Eugene Lee, colored, who resides on Bradley Road, just outside of the Northside.

POLL-TAX WATER HEARD ON APPEAL

Attorney-General Anderson Has Case Opened for Review by Supreme Court.

GOVERNOR IS AT LEESBURG

Citizens in Many States Anxious to Settle in Virginia. Capitol Notes.

Attorney-General Anderson is preparing for the June term of the State Supreme Court, which meets at Wytheville on Tuesday.

The Commonwealth's cases are always first on the docket. The most important one at the coming term in which the State is interested relates to the question of personal payment of poll taxes as a prerequisite to the right to vote. This case arose in Norfolk city, and has been once decided by the court, Judge Buchanan rendering the opinion. Upon motion of the Attorney-General the matter has been reopened and will again be heard at Wytheville.

Governor at Leesburg.

Governor Swanson went to Leesburg yesterday, where he spoke at a Confederate reunion. Little or nothing of interest was going on in the executive department in his absence. Secretary Owen put in an unusually hard day's work clearing up routine matters. With Assistant Secretary George Mundy he was engaged for some time in mailing the Governor's proclamation on Jefferson Davis Day to the commanders of the various Confederate camps of the State. The Governor will return here to-day, probably stopping over in Washington for a while, as he passes through.

Want Land in Virginia.

Following is a list of persons who have made recent inquiries concerning lands in Virginia:

B. A. Woodburn, Vasson, Co., wants information about general agriculture in Virginia. Is thinking of locating here.

G. A. Neal, Janesville, Ill., expects to locate in Virginia and wants literature about the State.

A. J. Glatner, 423 Jefferson Street, Buffalo, N. Y., wants information about Virginia, with a view of locating here.

C. P. Thacher, North Pomfret, Vt., wants information about land along Potomac River.

Joseph Hainy, Crow Lake, S. D., has seven sons and will come here to locate if he can find suitable locality. Wants information about general farming.

T. Vanderburgh, Marston, Mo., wants information about climate, price of land, etc., in Tidewater Virginia.

C. D. Benton, Akin, N. Y., is interested in this State and wants literature.

J. P. Smith, University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia, wants information

THE TRUTH ABOUT KIDNEY TROUBLE

(SEDIMENT.)

Sediment that can be seen with the unaided eye is not usually an evidence of a serious stage of kidney disease. Sediment is a smoky appearance of the urine. Both of these symptoms are often found in people who are otherwise well, and they commonly disappear when the exciting cause is removed. If the patient within a week or two of its discovery will diet, avoid colds and live carefully.

At times in the lives of nearly all of us in which these symptoms have appeared and disappeared. If, however, they persist it should be given thoughtful consideration. In view of the declarations of medical writers that about the sixth month inflammation of the kidneys becomes chronic and is then incurable. The text-books having no treatment that will allay inflammation of the kidneys, physicians prescribe a diet, and possibly an eliminant, and if early enough it is quite likely to be effective. But the new discovery, Fulton's Renal Compound, the success of which is attested by the fact that it is the first thing that allays kidney inflammation, is effective to aid nature to throw off the inflammation in about 87 per cent. of the cases.

As the inflammation more readily yields the first few weeks of the formative period, it is good judgment not to delay. If it has been unconsciously developing for some time, and is in the chronic stage, there is nothing that will help at all except Fulton's Renal Compound, and even then the recovery will be slow.

about apple growing in the mountainous sections of Virginia. W. H. Runest, 1513 Madison Street, Chicago, is a well-informed citizen, and has many friends in the Monterey neighborhood. He was a member of the Methodist Church and his funeral was conducted by the pastor, Rev. W. N. Wagner.

Building Roads.

State Highway Commissioner P. St. Julien Wilson has returned from Dinwiddie county, where he let a contract for building seven miles of road.

Bids will be opened on June 5th for five miles in Lee; on June 22d for twenty miles in Culpeper, and for many other contracts in the near future.

Some of the contracts recently let are: Four miles in Bedford; sixteen in Orange, and eight in Fauquier.

Military Notes.

Adjutant-General Anderson has been notified that the date for the Virginia troops to be at Chickamauga has been fixed by the War Department for the week of July 23d to August 1st.

Major Robert W. Hunter and his assistant, Captain R. T. Daniel, will accompany the Howitzer on their outing through the Valley of Virginia next month.

Fugitive From Washington. Richard McGarvey (white) was arrested last night by Captain Tomlinson, Detective-Sergeant Whitcomb on the charge of being a fugitive from Washington.

IS SPURRED BY ROOSTER.

Danville Lady Attacked With Ferocity While Feeding Chickens.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] DANVILLE, Va., May 28.—Mrs. T. W. Baker, wife of a well-known farmer residing at Stokesland, was the victim of an attack this morning by a large and vicious rooster, which spurred her several times. A severe gash was inflicted on the hand of Mrs. Baker, who was seriously injured. Dr. R. B. James, of this city, rendered medical attention. The injury will not prove serious unless blood poisoning sets in.

Mrs. Baker went out as usual to feed the chickens, which eagerly gathered around in efforts to get a large meal of spousable. The rooster flew up in the face of Mrs. Baker, striking right and left with its spurs. Mrs. Baker finally succeeded in beating the fowl off.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Novella Bronum. Mrs. Novella Bronum died yesterday afternoon. She was twenty-four years old, and leaves her husband and three children.

The funeral will take place this afternoon in Hollywood Cemetery.

Miss Margaret White. [Special to The Times-Dispatch.] LEXINGTON, Va., May 28.—The remains of Miss Margaret White, who died Monday night at this city, were brought to Lexington for burial. Miss White was a daughter of Mr. Warwick C. White, of near Lexington, and was about eighteen years of age. She was a bright, attractive young lady.

The funeral will take place Wednesday afternoon from the Lexington Presbyterian Church, conducted by the pastor, the Rev. Dr. Alfred T. Graham. Interment was made in the Lexington Cemetery.

Thomas M. Beverage. [Special to The Times-Dispatch.] MONTEREY, Va., May 28.—Thomas M. Beverage, one of the few remaining ex-Confederates of Highland, died on Straight Creek to-day. He was a son of the late William Beverage, and leaves one son, the only surviving member of his family.

Mr. Beverage was a bachelor of seventy-three years, and led rather a nomadic life. He was, however, a well-informed citizen, and had many friends in the Monterey neighborhood. He was a member of the Methodist Church and his funeral was conducted by the pastor, Rev. W. N. Wagner.

Mrs. Mary Reamey Jones. [Special to The Times-Dispatch.] DANVILLE, Va., May 28.—Mrs. Mary Reamey Jones, aged ninety-four years, and one of the most widely known ladies in this section, died this morning at the home of her nephew, Mr. Charles S. Hamlin, at Leesville, N. C. She was the widow of Mr. James Jones, who served in the War of 1812. Mrs. Jones drew a pension from that war. She was an aunt of Messrs. Thomas and Frank Hamlin, of Danville, and grandmother of Mr. J. S. Adams and Mrs. A. D. Clement, of this city. The burial will take place to-morrow at the old homestead at Spring Garden.

Alfred D. Stranghan. [Special to The Times-Dispatch.] SPOTSVYLVANIA, Va., May 28.—Mr. Alfred D. Stranghan, of Goodwin, Spotsylvania county, died yesterday in Staunton, Va., aged eighty years. Mr. Stranghan was a Confederate veteran of unsullied record, a man of high character, and was greatly admired by all who knew him. He leaves an aged widow only, his several children being all dead.

Mrs. Alice McDonald Connolly. [Special to The Times-Dispatch.] NORFOLK, Va., May 28.—Mrs. Alice McDonald Connolly, widow of John Connolly, died this morning at 8:35 A. M. after a long illness. She was a native of Ireland, and resided at 123 Bermuda Street, after a lingering illness. She is survived by three small children.

News Gathered From Southside..

Differences between City Engineer Lipscombe and Health Officer Ely were meeting at the Building and Land Committee last night. The talk was so fast and furious that when the committee adjourned no one knew just exactly where they were "at."

Captain Lipscombe claimed that in remedying what was the so-called evil, Officer Ely had acted very discourteously, in that he had failed to consult him, that he had failed to give notice that he would take any action in the matter.

Captain Lipscombe didn't fail to state that he believed the health officer had ordered the sanitary work around the stables to be done out of spite. Ely denied that he was prejudiced against Captain Lipscombe, and said that the work done was, in his opinion, to the best interest of the city.

Captain Lipscombe was on his feet making his third speech of the evening when Mr. Moore cut him short by rising to a point of personal privilege, stating that the committee-room was no place for the airing of personal feelings.

Discussion was then carried, which will result in stamping out the existing evil.

Democratic Committee to Meet. The City Central Democratic Committee will hold another meeting in the City Central Democratic Club, tonight, when matters which were discussed at the last meeting will again be taken up. While nothing of what the committee has under consideration is definitely known, the matter is of the City Central Democratic Club at large. The last meeting of the committee was executive, but it is said that an effort will be made to have the meeting to-night thrown open to the public. There seems to be no doubt about the fact that the committee is discussing some matter of great interest pertaining to the coming election, and it is rumored that investigation of the conduct of certain Democrats will come up.

Intruder Righted on.

An unknown man attempted to enter the home of Mr. I. A. Guza, No. 101 West Fifth Street, at an early hour yesterday morning, but before he had gained entrance he was frightened off, either by the noise made by himself, or by Mr. Guza, who saw the would-be burglar on the roof of his front porch. Mr. Guza went into a backroom and got his revolver, but before he returned the intruder had disappeared. On account of the darkness it was impossible to tell whether he was a negro or a white man. The police have small information upon which to work and there is little hope of capturing the intruder.

Contests Grandfather's Will. Mr. A. J. Lazenby, of Augusta, Ga., was in Manchester yesterday, going over the records in the clerk's office in an attempt to find the marriage license of his grandfather, who married a Miss Atkins, of this county. After the marriage the couple moved to Australia, where Mr. Lazenby made a fortune. At his death, a number of years ago, he left his entire estate to his widow, who recently died, leaving the money, estimated at $100,000, to be divided among the descendants. Grandchildren of the couple in Australia are contesting the will, and will make an effort to keep the descendants in this country from obtaining their share. For this reason Mr. Lazenby wishes to establish his kinship beyond a doubt. He did not find the license on record here, and will go to the county courthouse to-day, as it may be possible that the document was secured there. Mr. Lazenby says that altogether there are about 150 heirs.

among whom the estate will be divided.

Ascension Day Celebrated. Ascension Day was celebrated at both the Catholic and Episcopal churches here yesterday morning.

Bishop Augustine Van de Vyver celebrated mass at the Sacred Heart Church at 7 o'clock. A class of twenty-five were confirmed and received the Holy Communion. Brother Charles, of Richmond, acted as master of ceremonies. The bishop was assisted by the Rev. Father Coleman, pastor of the church.

At Meade Memorial Episcopal Church services were conducted by the pastor, Rev. Benjamin Dennis.

Personal and Briefs. Mr. D. L. Pulliam left yesterday afternoon for Newport News on business. He will be away for several days.

Mr. A. J. White, of Decatur Street, is still confined to his home as the result of an injury sustained while at work some days ago.

The children of Asbury Methodist Episcopal Church will hold a rehearsal of the Children's Day exercises at the church to-night at 7:30 o'clock.

Mrs. S. T. Jones, of No. 205 East Seventh Street, who has been extremely sick, was taken to the Sheltering Arms Hospital Wednesday.

Mr. Clarence Paul, son of Mr. George Paul, of this city, has completed his postgraduate course at the Virginia Polytechnic Institute. He returned to his home yesterday.

Miss Reba Bradley, daughter of Mr. W. B. Bradley, has returned home from the Mary Baldwin Seminary.

A meeting of the special committee on repairs to the pump-house has been called for Monday night.

The Street Committee will meet this afternoon at 2 o'clock for the purpose of inspecting the work done at that point by the Passenger and Power Company.

Mr. J. R. Jones, of Asheville, N. C., is visiting friends in this city.

The board of directors of the Manchester and Chesterfield Business Men's Association will hold an important meeting to-night.

FOR LIBRARY AT WINCHESTER. Corporation of Handley Building Ltd With Impressive Ceremony.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] WINCHESTER, Va., May 28.—In the presence of several thousand people the cornerstone of the Handley Library Building was laid this afternoon.

The ceremonies were in charge of the Grand Master, Frederick W. Beeghly, of the Masonic fraternity of Virginia, and leading members of the grand lodge from all over the State, together with the Knights Templar and Hiram Lodge, of Winchester. The board of Handley trustees, city officials, members of the Council, were present and participated in the exercises. Hon. Holmes Conrad delivered the oration, which was a masterly effort.

The Handley Library, which will cost $200,000, will be one of the handsomest edifices in the State. It is a gift to the people of Winchester by the late Judge John Handley, of Scranton, Pa., who left an estate of several millions for the erection of the library and also industrial schools for the education and training of poor boys.

WOMAN ORDERED TO LEAVE. REFUSES, AND IS ARRESTED.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] ROANOKE, Va., May 28.—The police notified Rosa Turner, at whose house the double tragedy occurred on Monday that she must leave the city. She engaged counsel and declared that she owned the property and would not go. She was arrested to-night and held out.
